

SINKING RAPIDLY.

Ex-Senator Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, Dying

AT HIS HOME IN LANCASTER

Surrounded by His Family—A Sketch of His Distinguished Career—Mrs. R. B. Hayes Stricken with Apoplexy in Her Room.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 22.—A. M.—General Simon Cameron is very ill and is believed to be sinking. Death may occur at any moment.

Ex-Archbishop General Wayne MacVea has just expressed the opinion that General Cameron will die before morning.

12:30 a. m.—It is reported that the doctors have expressed the opinion that General Cameron may survive another day. There is no appreciable change in his condition.

Sketch of Simon Cameron. Simon Cameron, ex-United States Senator from Pennsylvania, was born in Lancaster county, Pa., March 8, 1799.

He was left an orphan when only 9 years of age. Reared in poverty, he was a political power greater than that of any single man in the nation. His father was a country tailor, who could happily get bread and meat for his family, and when Simon Cameron was 10 years old his father died.

He was educated in the common schools of his native county, and in 1821 he was elected to the Pennsylvania State Senate. He was re-elected in 1823, 1825, 1827, 1829, 1831, 1833, 1835, 1837, 1839, 1841, 1843, 1845, 1847, 1849, 1851, 1853, 1855, 1857, 1859, 1861, 1863, 1865, 1867, 1869, 1871, 1873, 1875, 1877, 1879, 1881, 1883, 1885, 1887, 1889.

He was engaged in the banking business and also as a canal contractor before he entered politics. He was elected to the Pennsylvania State Senate in 1821, and in 1823 he was elected to the Pennsylvania State Senate.

He was elected to the United States Senate in 1837 and served until 1879, in twelve years. He has lived to see his oldest boy not only United States Senator, but Secretary of War, and even richer in money than himself. Even the advance of the political power of his son has not diminished his own power.

He was elected to the United States Senate in 1837 and served until 1879, in twelve years. He has lived to see his oldest boy not only United States Senator, but Secretary of War, and even richer in money than himself.

MRS. R. B. HAYES STRICKEN. She suffers an Attack of Paralysis While Sitting in Her Room—The Cause Unexplained.

CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—Mrs. Hayes, the wife of ex-President Hayes, was stricken with apoplexy this afternoon at her home in Fremont, and at 9 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 10 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 11 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 12 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 1 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 2 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 3 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 4 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 5 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 6 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 7 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 8 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 9 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 10 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 11 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 12 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 1 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 2 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 3 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 4 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 5 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 6 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 7 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 8 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 9 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

At 10 o'clock this evening she was unconscious. At 11 o'clock this evening she was unconscious.

SONS OF AMERICA.

They Join After a Harmless Session, the Sons of America.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

The Sons of America held their annual convention of the convention this morning and disposed of the remaining business on hand.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and ritual of the order and to frame bills to be presented to Congress, asking for better immigration laws and memorializing that body to make an appropriation of money to purchase and improve additional grounds at Valley Forge, to be used with that owned by the Valley Forge Centennial Association.

Congress will be memorialized to appropriate money to purchase the temple farm near Yorktown, Pa., where Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington.

CHANDLER'S STATEMENT.

He Tells His Story of the Trouble with Col. Blackburn.

HIS EARS WERE NOT PULLED.

Neither was He Dragged Over the Floor—The Fight was Simply One of Words, and Blackburn was to Blame for the Affair.

CONCORD, N. H., June 21.—Senator William E. Chandler yesterday issued to the Republicans of New Hampshire over his own signature, the following statement regarding his quarrel with Senator Blackburn in February last:

"Mr. Sullivan, during his characteristic speech at the caucus, saw fit to refer to the affairs between Senator Blackburn and myself, which happened in the room of the Committee on Indian Affairs of the United States Senate on the 23d of February last. So long as misrepresentations concerning this affair only served as material for assaults upon me by Democratic newspapers, I have not cared to notice them, but since they have been reproduced in the Republican legislative caucus which has nominated me for Senator, I take occasion to set some of them to rest."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before. He then said that I was not a member of the committee, and that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

"The committee was in session, no person being present except the five members and the clerk. As Chairman I was reading the draft of a report. Senator Faulkner remarked that he thought I understood, in a certain paragraph, to say that I was not a member of the committee. I said I did not think so, and that I would read the clause again. Mr. Blackburn vehemently intervened, and said that I was certainly violating the understanding, and that it would so appear if I would read the paragraph again and read it exactly as I did before."

COMPROMISED AT LAST.

A Famous Salt Ended—The Case of Mayhew and Others Against the West Virginia Oil and Land Company.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 21.—The case of Mayhew and others against the West Virginia Oil and Land Company, which has been in the courts for thirteen years, was settled to-day by a compromise on the distribution of the costs, thirty-two thousand dollars, the plaintiffs getting three-fourths and the defendants one-fourth.

The case was argued by Judge H. L. Bond, of Baltimore, and Judge Jackson heard arguments of the counsel yesterday. Among the legal talent represented were B. Mason, Ambar, M. J. Ambler, Judge Loomis, Judge Okey Johnson, Col. R. S. Blair, C. D. Coleman, of Washington, George Wade, of Buffalo, and R. C. Eastman, of Chicago.

To-day these eminent attorneys and Judge Bond and Jackson met and a compromise was agreed upon. Various phases of the case have been tried in every court from the Supreme Court of the United States down.

The labor trouble here is still unsettled, but quite a large force of men were at work; but few of the discharged men have left the place, because transportation was refused them. Transportation headquarters was besieged all day by those anxious to get away, and on several occasions the guards were compelled to escort delinquents to the depot.

There was no trouble in any way to-day, and there seems to be a general belief that the authorities have won the contest. The largest number of men were taken to the depot yesterday, and there was little or no disorder. Thirty-two bodies were taken from the wrecked school work and sent to the depot for several days. Six of those recovered belong to one family, and were found in one foundation near their former home.

From the fact that many of the bodies recovered to-day were found in cellars, General Hastings has arranged with Contractor Sargent, a resident here, to put a force of men to work in looking after the cellars of the city.

At 5 o'clock this evening the institute adjourned, the enrollment having reached 234—ninety-seven ladies and 137 gentlemen.

Next week the instructors, Prof. Hedges and Miller, will conduct the Institute for Wood county at Parkersburg.

Drowned in the Ohio. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 21.—Henry Duncan, a single man aged about twenty-three years was drowned from a johnboat in the Ohio river yesterday evening at a short distance from this city. He had been living in a boat house.

Expelled From the Country. An American Citizen's Complaint Against the Government of Guatemala.

NEW YORK, June 21.—J. H. Hollander declares that the action of the Government of Guatemala in excluding him from the country was a gross injustice.

He says that he has applied to the Department at Washington to procure redress, and that his case is under consideration there. He says that he is an American citizen and was publishing a newspaper in Guatemala under the authority of that Government; that he was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

A Protestant was then begun against Mr. Hollander in the Guatemala country. He was arrested and taken to the State Department at Washington as to the condition of the American Minister in Guatemala at the time, having verified his statement before the State Department.

He made no publication of his charge in any other way.

THIRTY-TWO MORE BODIES

Recovered in the Wreckage at Johnstown Yesterday.

SIX PERSONS OF ONE FAMILY

Found in a Cellar—The Labor Trouble Still Unsettled—Saloons Ordered Closed by General Hastings.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 21.—A telegram from Pittsburgh to General Hastings that a violent storm was moving in this direction, caused an order to be issued strengthening the camp generally. There was no damage done here by the storm, however.

The labor trouble here is still unsettled, but quite a large force of men were at work; but few of the discharged men have left the place, because transportation was refused them. Transportation headquarters was besieged all day by those anxious to get away, and on several occasions the guards were compelled to escort delinquents to the depot.

There was no trouble in any way to-day, and there seems to be a general belief that the authorities have won the contest. The largest number of men were taken to the depot yesterday, and there was little or no